Ideal for an after-work grind through Chocolate Gulch, the Capilene 1 T-Shirt keeps you dry and cool when the sun is high and your lungs are heaving. Made from our lightest-weight Capilene performance baselayer fabric, this silky tee is ultra light, highly breathable and quick to dry. Its rib-knit collar is soft against skin and raglan sleeves won't chafe beneath pack straps. With a slim fit and a straight hem. Made from 3.7-oz 100% all-recycled polyester with Gladiodor® natural odor control and 15 UPF sun protection. Recyclable through the Common Threads Recycling Program.

The silky Capilene 1 Crew is designed for desert runs and other fast-forward pursuits in hot temps. Made from our lightest-weight Capilene performance baselayer fabric, this top wicks moisture, breathes, and dries in a flash. Its slightly scooped neck with self-fabric binding is soft and pliable, and raglan-style sleeves won't chafe beneath pack straps. Tuckable length. Made from 3.7-oz 100% all-recycled polyester with 15 UPF sun protection and Gladiodor® natural odor control. Recyclable through the Common Threads Recycling Program.

With the possible exception of duct tape, there is nothing more versatile than a fleece vest. This one provides color and core warmth without the bulk of a jacket, and is made from cushy 7.5-oz double-faced polyester fleece (85% recycled). With feminine lines, a double-fleece collar and zippered handwarmer pockets. Recyclable through the Common Threads Recycling Program.

Patagonia's definition of formal wear: It passes the in-law test yet is comfortable enough for a pitch or two of cragging. Our hefty, 7.2-oz 100% organic cotton polo in a piqué knit keeps its casual composure (and bolsters yours), even when the occasion requires a steady smile or enclosed footwear. With a soft, athletic collar and a low-profile placket for increased durability over its long life. Recyclable through the Common Threads Recycling Program.

patagonia

Early Hawaiian shirts were pitched as "postcards you can wear." We've been making ours – inspired by native designs true to the aloha spirit – for 20 years. Exquisitely tailored in machine-washable 55% organic cotton and 45% environmentally friendly Tencel®, their silky drape cools in humid climates and is receptive to the slightest breeze. An improved placket prevents folding-over. Coconut buttons.

When a shirt is not enough and a jacket is too much, this versatile core-warmer keeps you comfortable without restricting movement. Layer it when chasing spring corn, or wear it alone on cool desert nights. Durable, lightweight 100% double-faced polyester fleece (85% recycled) is just enough to keep the chill out. With zippered handwarmer pockets and elasticized armholes and hem. Recyclable through the Common Threads Recycling Program.
